

A Runaway Prodigal.

5.

Am I willing to become God's devoted laborer in His harvest field and to be a vessel for His love to compassionately reach hurting and needy people through me wherever He places me?

Many years ago, when talking with a passenger on the rolling windswept deck of an old Greek boat in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, a young man shared how he had just left his Christian fiancé and godly parents in Scotland without telling them of his intended departure until the very day he sailed. However, God was fully aware what this runaway prodigal was doing and, in His Love, had so arranged circumstances that he read the scriptures that we shared from Psalm 139:9-10, "If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; even there shall Thy hand lead me, and Thy right hand shall hold me."

Under the conviction of his sin, the 'runaway prodigal' gladly confessed his self-centered living and humbly asked the Lord for His forgiveness and restoration to a life of fellowship with Him. God loved this young man and knew every detail about who he would meet to be restored by the right word of testimony from His Word. Similarly, He knows every detail about you!

Because of your own blinded sinful and selfish ways, are you also a 'runaway' from the God who loves you? As a blood-bought child of God, why not, 'about turn' unto your Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ and receive His forgiveness and restoration as He welcomes you back into His fold?
