

Every day, we mingle with people who, although physically, emotionally and intellectually alive are at the same time, sadly, spiritually dead! It is easy to comfortably relate to their physical, emotional and intellectual areas when of a common interest. However, only through the compassion of the Love of Christ in our hearts, will I relate to their deep spiritual needs and their eternal destiny.

We can confess Christ with our life and with our lips. It is equally important to know that we can also deny Christ by our speech and by our silence. The Lord told every born-again believer; “You shall be witnesses unto Me” Acts 1:8. That means each of us has their own special mission field: There is the bank teller, the hair dresser, the neighbor or the person sitting with us in the doctor’s office. The Lord has given us the privilege to lead each of these people to a personal knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ:

“For the love of Christ constrains us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: And that He died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him which died for them, and rose again ... Therefore, if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new... Now then we are ambassadors for Christ ... that we might be the righteousness of God in Him” 2 Corinthians 5:14-21. Do I daily live up to my high calling from God? How will I respond to Him even just now?
